

Not Worth It

By

Jeffrey Blake Palmer

722 Empire Ave.
Ventura CA 93003
(530) 220-4452
jeffpalmer_email@yahoo.com

EXT. STREET SIDEWALK - DAY

A WOMAN stops in her tracks, noticing a MAN standing on the ledge of a nearby three-story building across the street.

WOMAN
(to self)
Oh my god...

She checks for traffic, then crosses the road.

WOMAN
(waving her arms)
Hey! Hello! Excuse me!

The Man continues to gaze at the city.

WOMAN
You up there! Hey! Don't do it!

He finally looks down.

WOMAN
That's right. You don't want to do this. There's so much to live for!

MAN
(cupping his ear)
What??

WOMAN
There's so much to live for!
Jumping isn't the answer!

MAN
What are you talking about?

WOMAN
You! I mean, ending your life. Your life! It's just not worth it!

MAN
Well, thanks for rubbing it in!

WOMAN
No, I meant... AAAHHHHH!

The Man LEAPS from the ledge, landing ON TOP of the Woman, crushing her flat. Eventually, he gets up, brushes himself off and walks away... whistling down the sidewalk.

TWO PEDESTRIANS eventually find the flattened Woman. They stare up at the ledge of the building and shake their heads.